I'm Anna Marie and I'm also a brand new mom. I've worked at the Help Desk for a State agency for about three years.

My husband and I have just started a family and had our first little girl in January.

I log in to myCalPERS to search for the different health plans that are available in my area. It's great to be able to download the forms I need and learn more about the health care benefits that are available to my new family and me. It's also an easy way to stay up-to-date on any new information that may affect my plan or benefits.

It feels good to have some things figured out now that the new baby is here.

Hi, my name is Eileen. I'm a single mom of two amazing twin boys in junior high. They're great kids with really bright futures in academics and sports. College is definitely in their stars, which makes preparing for their future, and my own, important to me.

Working for the State for the last 15 years, I've been good about managing my retirement benefits. Now, I'm looking for other ways to save for retirement.

myCalPERS has been a great resource for me to see all of my own personal information, including my account balances and statuses. I can even access online tools to help me estimate and calculate my retirement benefits. myCalPERS also offers great resources to help me learn more about different financial services, like deferred compensation plans CalPERS offers to help me reach my retirement goals.

Having secure access to my personal account information helps me prepare and plan on my time. It gives me the resources and information to make the important decisions I need to make, and that gives me peace of mind.

My name is Carl and I just bought my first Harley. I always envisioned taking long weekend rides on my motorcycle when I retired.

At 55, I've had a great career working for several public agencies in the State. My job requires a lot of interaction and communication with other agencies. I try to avoid sitting at the computer all day, but I'm finding my job demands it more and more to be efficient and effective. I use the Web for the basics, but I admit I found my bike online. My personal motto has been that I'd rather be riding than "surfing."

When we moved recently, I started using myCalPERS to update my personal information, which then led to checking in on my account information and my pending application statuses. I find I use myCalPERS more and more, especially for making important decisions about my retirement.

I've found I can get so much done on myCalPERS – I even took the time to customize it. The Redwoods-inspired theme reminds me of that long weekend ride when I retire.

Hi, my name is Jim and my wife says "retirement suits me."

My wife Val and I have been happily married for 50 years. We laugh when we think about that because time sure does fly by. I've been a retired school employee for 10 years. Enjoying my time with our eight grand kids, they keep me young despite my frustration with hearing loss. The grand kids help me stay connected and have taught me how to e-mail and use the Web. I now do all my bills online, order my prescriptions, and even check the status of my insurance claims on the Web.

I use myCalPERS to view my retirement check to see the details of my retirement benefit statement. During tax time, I even viewed my tax statements online. Having access to this type of information is so valuable to me. I can look it up whenever I need it. I can even view and compare this information from past years.

My wife says I smile a lot now that I am retired. With conveniences like myCalPERS, eight grandchildren, and fishing – who wouldn't, right?

I work at a State Agency as an analyst. I started with the State right out of college, and my dad retired from State service last year.

Now that I am on my own and my dad is retired, he likes to send me lots of information from CalPERS, reminding me to be wise about preparing for my future. I think it is cool that my dad likes to use the Web, since I am so dependent on it for all my information and communication with friends and family.

Now that I have been with the State for five years, I am interested in buying service credit. I log in to myCalPERS to view the amount of service credited to my CalPERS account and use the online tools to help determine my retirement benefits. It's great to be able to estimate my service credit online. I like creating different estimates to see what my options are for retirement.

My dad says I'm lucky to have all this information at my fingertips so early in my career. I'd have to agree.
